Northern Vision Development LP Donates $10K to the Food Bank Society of Whitehorse

WHITEHORSE, YUKON – Northern Vision Development Limited Partnership (“NVD”), inspired by the community minded efforts of Victoria Gold, is proud to announce its augmenting Victoria’s $100,000 Food Bank Society of Whitehorse donation of last week by adding an additional $10,000.

“Victoria Gold has been a community leader throughout its time in the Yukon” commented Rich Thompson, NVD CEO. “and it is great to see, at a time when corporate contributions are needed the most and hard to come by, Victoria Gold is extending such community commitment. We are lucky to have a company with this attitude operating here in the Yukon and we acknowledge the private sector leadership they have demonstrated throughout the COVID crisis. NVD is delighted to add some additional contribution to this very generous gift.”

Whitehorse Food Bank Executive Director, Dave Blottner added, "We are so incredibly thankful for this donation; acts like this showcase how lucky we are to live in the north where community stewardship and compassion are still at the forefront of our community."

“At NVD, we have seen first hand how hard this pandemic has hit our community, our company and our staff and we are grateful that there are organizations like the Whitehorse Food Bank who are able to step up and help those most at risk,” said Michael Hale, COO of Northern Vision Development. “We were also inspired by the incredible generosity of Victoria Gold. It is gratifying to be a part of a business community with so much compassion for the people that live in our territory.”

NVD is a leading Yukon real estate developer and hotel operator based in Whitehorse with additional properties in Mayo and Dawson City. NVD is proud to be over 34% First Nations owned and more than 60% Yukon owned.

The Food Bank Society of Whitehorse is a community minded organization created to provide emergency food to the hungry, while supporting a greater effort to help alleviate poverty.
